"This new fourth edition of the Synoptic Key is herewith submitted to all brothers in the work. Only changes of proven value in coordinating and assembling the significant features of seemingly dissociated symptom groups, have been made. Upon these depends almost wholly the final choice of the simillimum. They should reflect a speaking image, as it were, of the correctly indicated remedy...The symptom features of many remedies have been clarified in order to increase their usefulness, especially in precisionizing differentiations. The repertory is only intended to orient the searcher." -- From the Author's Foreword to the 1931 Fourth Edition
